The Wrestling team sported new uniforms this year because of the generosity of the Bradbury family. The uniforms were donated in memory of Saige Bradbury, a student athlete in Bellingham from 2007-2011. Saige unexpectedly passed away during the summer of 2017. The uniforms are adorned with Saige's initials so his memory will live on through the Blackhawk Wrestling family.

Its Time By: Imagine Dragons

So this is what you meant
When you said that you were spent
And now its time to build from the bottom of the pit, right to the top
Don't hold back
Packing my bags and giving the academy a rain check

I dont ever want to let you down
I don't ever want to leave this town
'Cause after all
This city never sleeps at night

It's time to begin, isn't it?
I get a little bit bigger but then i'll admit
I'm just the same as I was
Now dont you understand
I'm never changing who I am

So this is where you fell
and I am left to sell
The path to heaven runs through miles of clouded hell right to the top
Don't look back
Turning to rags and giving the commodities a rain check

I don't ever to let you down
I don't ever want to leave this town
'Cause after all
This city never sleeps at night

It's time to begin, isn't it?
I get a little bit bigger but then I'll admit
I'm just the same as I was
Now don't you understand
I'm never changing who I am

It's time to begin, isn't it?
I get a little bit bigger but then I'll admit
I'm just the same as I was
Now don't you understand
I'm never changing who I am

This road never looked so lonely
This house doesn't burn down slowly
To ashes
To ashes

It's time to begin, isn't it?
I get a little bit bigger but then I'll admit
I'm just the same as I was
Now don't you understand
I'm never changing who I am

Class History

Evan Motta

Hello everyone! My name is Evan Motta, I was asked to give the Class history as secretary. After I moved here I felt so welcomed by everyone, and what a community I have been welcomed to. Our class is a unique one and I feel so fortunate to have been a part of it.

Our freshman year we walked into the building unsure of what the next four years of our lives would be like. We did however know that we wouldn't have to hear Joe say "good morning starshine the earth says hello" every morning. That first day Mr. Forbes told us that the next four years would go by in the blink of an eye, right after he took a football away from Jake. I was excited to spend the next four years meeting all these new people. That year we went about wide eyed, scrambling to join clubs and make on to sports teams as we watched in awe of the seniors, aspiring to be like them some day. As time went on we discovered what midterms and finals were really like, and some of us handled the stress better than others. We came together as a class that year, and got to finish it off with a trip to Six Flags.

Sophomore year was a trying time. Eighth graders had joined the building, we had to do one final MCAS test, and for some reason people began asking us what our plans for college were. The strange part about sophomore year is that you think that you know everything, but you really don't. You're fifteen going on sixteen and you think that you're an adult but you have absolutely no idea what's going on. We had a meeting that year and decided that we didn't want a ring dance, we were gonna have a pizza party instead. No one went to that. So we thought, let's have a field day. A few months later we had another class meeting and we all know how that went...

Junior year things got even harder. We had become the upperclassmen that we had aspired to be, but with that came much more responsibility. Looking for colleges, getting jobs, learning to drive. Not to mention the number of standardized test that we had. I can't even remember the number of times I heard an announcement about the PSAT/NMSQTs, then the actual SATs which most people took multiple times and then we still had AP tests. At least we were finally allowed to have studies during the day. But at the end of the year we got to experience prom for the first time and as the seniors left we began to give up as we realized that there was only one more year left.

And now Senior year. We have become the people that the freshman look up to. Now I don't know about you guys but I have absolutely no idea what I'm doing. Being eighteen and being considered an adult is really scary. Have you ever walked into a room and been bombarded with questions about college and "plans for the future" more times than you have in the past year? I haven't. I couldn't even get a hair cut without someone wondering what I was majoring in. The hardest part of the year isn't the tests of preparing for college, it's leaving the school. We're leaving a family. We're saying goodbye to our friends and leaving the clubs and teams that we've been apart of. But there were plenty of good times. A bunch of us went to Disney World together, and just in the past few weeks we've had our senior prom, had the senior breakfast, the senior run, gone to high meadows walked through the elementary schools, and had awards night. And here we are now, at a banquet the night before we are officially done with high school. The event that the past eighteen years have been leading up, the culmination of twelve years of school. And so in that sense our class history isn't really done, we still have to walk across the stage and shake Mr. Giguere's hand, move our tassels to the left and throw our hats into the air in front of all of our friends and families only to come back to the school and be locked into the building until six in the morning. But with that I hope you all the best and I am incredibly grateful to this class and this school for making the past four years the best years of my life.

Valedictorian Speech

Leah Gerrish

Good evening to all the family members, friends, teachers, administration, and other faculty members out there, and to my fellow classmates, fellow graduates. It is a pleasure to be standing up here in front of you all to speak on this long-awaited night that wraps up our past twelve years of learning and growing together. Congratulations to the class of 2018 for making it to graduation, through what many can agree was a grueling but worthwhile journey. Let us be grateful for the tight knit community of Bellingham where we all gather today, from near and afar. Whether it has been eighteen years or several months, this town has given each and every one of us graduates a safe place to call home, and it has been an essential factor in our success that has led us to this occasion tonight.

Tomorrow morning many of us will be exiting out the Bellingham High School doors for the very last time. With whatever path each of us will take - following this final day together, we will be plunging ourselves into a whole new world, one that we are largely unfamiliar with.

We will face hardship and find success, we will feel grief and come back stronger, we will change our minds - - and figure out that we were just wrong the first time. It is all part of the process. As Douglas MacArthur once said, "Life is a lively process of becoming."

Though tonight may be the last step in our Bellingham education, it is the first step for all of us in becoming.

For me, MacArthur's words speak to the uncertainty that life holds within itself - and the constant need to embrace whatever comes our way, adapting to change so that we can experience the full potential of what life can be. It won't be all smooth sailing, but it's the turmoil that sometimes comes our way - that allows us to become who we were truly put on this earth to be.

Rough patches are inevitable and mistakes are just a part of life, but what really defines you is how you choose to get through these times. As Oscar Wilde once said, "We are all in the gutter, but some of us are looking at the stars."

Life can sometimes throw the most unexpected at us and turn everything we know upside down. In these cases, we must look on the bright side and learn to walk on the ceiling (if you know what I mean). I made a pretty funny mistake last week. I accidentally slept through my alarm and missed the last day of school with the breakfast and senior run. Let me tell you, I was pretty sad when I woke up. But things happen to everyone. Yes, our four years here at BHS weren't perfect. However, our process of becoming really begins with our first step beyond Bellingham. While we should be mindful of how we carry ourselves and how other people are affected, we should never let a few wrong actions define us, and we should never let the opinions of others prohibit us from achieving everything above and beyond their expectations, and our own. I challenge every one of you to consider that your course of becoming will have setbacks, that it may not be what you expect, but that you must power through it.

One thing I am certain about is that the class of 2018 has a lot of determination. Rightfully so, as we are the last class who can call themselves 90s kids. Over the years, I have witnessed us demonstrate that we won't stop until we succeed. Since middle school we have had at least five different principals, but that has never stopped us from persevering academically. We have always liked to have the last laugh, especially in class meetings, no matter what administration was present. We turned a ring dance, into a pizza party, into an ugly sweater pizza party, into a field day, and it didn't work out, but we didn't stop at ring dance. We stood up and started a petition when we weren't happy with the class song. We started the Nest, increasing crowd presence at both home and away games. We sang Brandon happy birthday every day for a whole school year just because we could. [sing] That is just the tip of the iceberg, but in culminating our determination, every one of us persisted in waking up every day (or most days) and dragging ourselves to school, each step closer to the light at the end of a very long tunnel.

That determination has led us to be wearing our caps and gown tonight.

I would like to take a brief moment to express my gratitude for everything Bellingham has been for me. Thank you to every teacher who has ever shared their knowledge with me; you are all the reason that we can be where we are today. I so much appreciate the dedication of Madame Sivyllis in teaching me a new language, the friendship I have formed with Mrs. Remy in and out of the classroom, and the daily jokes of Mr. Norton, who would always tell us that he liked our class, but he also liked swimming with sharks. Although he usually calls himself a sap, I consider him to be a friend and wonderful teacher who I will miss dearly. Thank you Mr. Devlin for welcoming me into your office a million and one times during my four years here. Thank you to Mr. Giguere; Bellingham has been so lucky to have an amazing leader like yourself. The tutoring center and I couldn't have made it to this point without you.

Thank you to Mr. Forbes and Mrs. Masterson for all you both do as well. I know how energetic our class could be during assemblies. Mr. Forbes, I remember the day that you spotted my Dunkin iced tea, and I unhappily shoved it in your hands and stormed away. A memorable moment, but I'm glad that we are on better terms now.

Finally, a huge thank you to my family and friends, too many people to name, for the endless support. Love you all.

Now let's take a moment to think back to our first day of high school four years ago. How vividly can you remember yourself wandering around upstairs, frustrated because all the hallways looked the same, and you passed your classroom three times before actually making it there? I remember asking Mr. Dedentro for help several times trying to find my first class if that is any consolation.

Secondly, think back to just two weeks ago when you ran through the hallways during the senior run. You can probably picture these two moments with about the same amount of clarity. This is because the four years in between came and went in an instant.

We should take high school for what it's worth and appreciate the doors that it has opened for us. There is a whole world of challenges to be solved, inventions to be created, obstacles to be overcome, lives to be changed, and differences to be made. As long as our intentions are good and our desires are fueled by our passions, what lies ahead is truly an ocean of limitless possibilities. Our future is always up to our discretion, and we must utilize the present in its entirety to make sure our chosen path is the one that we truly want for ourselves. Along whichever road each of us may find ourselves five, ten, fifteen years from now, may we make a promise to ourselves never to stop learning.

What becomes of "our becoming" is up to us, and I know that every one of you has the ability to make out of your lives, exactly what you have hoped and dreamed. I look forward to seeing what each of us will become.

Thank you and congratulations to all! Enjoy this memorable night!

Salutatorian Speech

Joseph Oliver

Congratulations to Bellingham High School's Class of 2018!

Today is an important day in the lives of many. It marks the pinnacle of an immeasurable accumulation of hard work and achievement. All of which has led you to this day, this hour, and this moment. It is important that you reflect upon it and take great pride in this accomplishment for it is an honor reserved for disciplined and dedicated individuals. Do not allow the significance of this day to pass into mere memory. Today's celebration should continue to inspire the selflessness, hope, determination, and goodwill that reside within all of you.

It is fitting to recognize at this time that your accomplishments also speak highly of those who have supported and guided you along the way. The inherent worth of my high school education would be negligible without the nurturing of individuals who encouraged me along the way. Often, the most influential of individuals are those who rarely hear the praises they are due. These role models who often make a difference in the lives of others can be described using one word—selfless.

Today, I ask all of you to take time to be grateful for all the selfless individuals in your lives. Parents, siblings, extended family, friends, teachers, administrators, coaches, and countless others who have given so much of their time for every one of you are most proud today. Continue to honor and thank them all of your days. Also, don't forget to be that selfless person to someone else one day.

Remember to make the most of your time, and it will make the most of you. It is crucial that we continue to recognize that every day and every aspect of our lives—past, present, and future, influence who we are. Understand your present...as it relates to your past and your future. If you are willing to rise to the challenges of a new day, you will be strong enough to overcome the shortcomings of your past. With hope in your heart and putting carpe diem into practice and seizing the day, you will make impossible dreams possible in your future.

As long as I can remember, I have sought to understand the greater purpose and importance of who I am. I encourage all of you to continue to do the same. Have the courage and curiosity to reflect upon yourself and the importance of your life. Be willing to strive and persevere in every single moment. By making an effort and trying with all of your mind and heart, you can accomplish great things. Sometimes all you need to get the ball rolling is a good push. If you believe in the power of determination, there will be very few obstacles capable of stopping you.

Theodore Roosevelt once said that "The first requisite of a good citizen in this republic of ours is that he shall be able and willing to pull his own weight." Going forward this day, this hour, and this moment as moral and benevolent citizens, you must recognize the intrinsic importance of your actions each day. It is your duty to bear your own weight. While the journey may be difficult, the end will ultimately justify the means. Through heartfelt kindness and generosity...and genuine care and concern...you can make an extraordinary difference in the lives of others and this world. None of you will ever fully realize the magnitude of your impact on another person or persons. In many cases, you will not even recognize when you have changed another person's life. Always remember, nothing is nobler than doing what is right...and nothing is more rewarding.

Congratulations to Bellingham High School's Class of 2018!

Class President

Wylan Moore

Good Evening students, families, and faculty, first and foremost, I'd like to congratulate the Class of 2018 on this extraordinary achievement! This is an accomplishment you will never forget; you have made your families and the BHS community proud. It goes without saying that couldn't have accomplished this alone. Thank you to our selfless teachers for devoting your time to tutor, counsel, and guide us. My heart goes out to the faculty and staff at Bellingham High School for making these past four years the best years of my life.

It seems like just yesterday that I was walking through those front doors, uncertain and frightened about the immediate future. Now that I look back on it, there was no reason to be nervous. I think I speak for the majority of my grade when I say, Bellingham High School made me feel at home. But more importantly, my peers made my four years special. To those who may not know, I didn't start my high-school career at BHS, but in a different school. Those three weeks in the foreign territory were agonizing. School just wasn't the same as it was at Bellingham. Upon my return to BHS, I came to the realization that my fellow classmates weren't just other students: they were family. I felt welcomed and right at home. This turned out to be one of the best decisions of my life and I thank the staff and more importantly my class for creating such an environment for me.

Whether we like it or not, our lives have been changed forever. We stand before a threshold of uncertainty. What do we do with the rest of our lives?

Without a doubt, there are a lot of presumptions about our generation. Why, you may ask? We are the first to grow up completely submerged in cutting edge technology. We are the millennials - raised alongside flat screen TVs, computers, and a plethora of social media platforms. Headlines go far enough as to call us lazy and entitled because of our differences. Yet here we are, a representation of strong-willed, informed, and ambitious young people who are determined to use the leg up we have on this dynamic time in history to make our mark.

Something I've always admired about our class is our willingness to speak our minds. Members of our grade have consistently proved, for better or for worse that they're not going down without a fight. Perhaps, a fraction of this trait is something we will carry with us as we part ways. Steve Jobs said, "The ones who are crazy enough to think that they can change the world, are the ones that do." Dare to do what you think is right. Don't be afraid, speak your mind. Your ideas and thoughts cannot be heard if they're not spoken.

Success may seem hard to achieve, but that doesn't mean it's impossible. No matter where you come from or where you start, success is always possible. Being the only child of an interracial family, I was looked down upon in my younger years. We became more accepted as years passed. My mom passed when I was just four years old. After this tragic event, people bonded together to help us through this major crisis. This was just one of the many times, I've faced adversity. I want every student in this room to think of a time where they've faced adversity. That time may have seemed tough, but look where you are now, graduating. We all face obstacles throughout life, but our ability to push through them is what makes us who we are.

Right now the future might look ambiguous. You might find yourself wishing you were a kid again because the world is unpredictable, and that is frightening. This is just a part of growing up. You are opening up the new chapter of your life. Obstacles will come, but I know everyone of us will get over them. Leaving high-school may seem tough, but instead of being sad, reflect on the happy moments. In ninth grade, we attended six flags together, what a thrill that was. This past season our basketball and volleyball teams made the playoffs. Members of NHS, created a tutoring center in the school, the first ever. Student Council hosted the first annual senior citizen prom. This is just a small sample of the happy moments and accomplishments our class has achieved. Parents always said these four years would go by fast. At first I thought this was crazy, and for one of the rare moments in my life, I have to agree that they were right. These past four years at Bellingham High School have been the best four years and I'm glad to have shared them with the fellow students in front of me.

Our class has had our ups and downs, but in the end this well rounded group is like family. I know this is just the beginning of our class's achievements. In this integral era of change and uncertainty, I'm proud to be a part of a group of kids dedicated to making the future bright.

Oh and most importantly, I want to thank the parents and family members for their role in our lives. Thank you for the love and support. Without you, we wouldn't be where we are today. Thank you! Please give them a round of applause. Congratulations to Class of 2018! Enjoy the evening!

Letter to our class

Tamara Petrov

Here we are. Sitting in a banquet hall, filled with premature excitement for the future. Can you feel it? Can you smell it in the summer heat? That's the anticipation of graduation. Ladies and gentlemen, we are space-bound. The atmosphere of Bellingham High School fostered our growth and kept us safe, but it's time to board a rocket to the moon. We'll be making pit stops at imaginary constellations and take stardust as souvenirs.

It's actually ironic. Senior year felt like such a long time coming. I know I'm not the only one who thought it would never arrive, and we would be stuck in a continuous loop of secondary education. But in space, time is completely relative. What you behold and discover is far more important than how quickly you did it. The greater distance traveled, the more daring the mission.

I wanted to keep this short and sweet since we all know how short our attention span really is. I'll get to the point. We've been granted yet another empty chapter of our lives. We are expected to fill it with words. I urge you to not just fill it with empty sentences, but prose and poetry. Sketch wildly and paint in color. Fidget with the page edges and rip them altogether. Make up your own words. I don't care. My hope for you, graduating class of 2018, is that you make this chapter your own. Make it something YOU want to read. Something that you can look back to like a scrapbook of memories. You have a brief window to start the rest of your life and its now. It doesn't have to be big, it just has to be yours.

A YEAR IN REVIEW
2017-18

 Yearbooks

HEADLINE NEWS

A SERIOUS AWARD THAT'S ALL FUN AND GAMES

Every year the National Toy Hall of Fame inducts the toys and games that "have inspired creative play and enjoyed popularity over a sustained period." This year, top honors went to the classic board game Clue, the paper airplane and the innovative, window-saving Wiffle Ball.

BIG BEN ENTERS 4-YEAR SILENCE

Big Ben, the Great Bell of London's most famous clock tower, has been ringing on the hour, every hour, for 157 years. No longer. Big Ben went silent for an expected 4 years for much-needed repairs. Workers will replace the roof, give the clock tower a more vibrant color and replace some of the enclosure materials with glass, allowing visitors to easily view the bell.

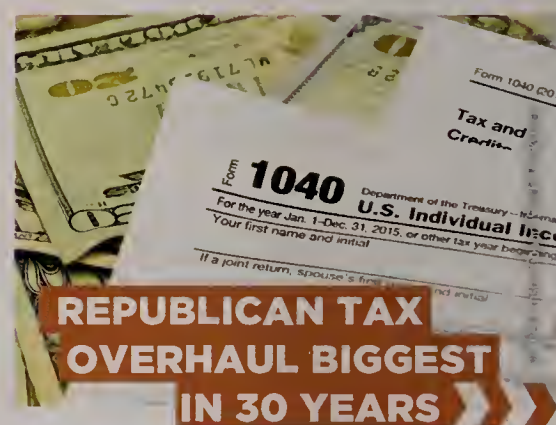

REMEMBERING THE STARS WE'VE LOST

They bring us hope, inspiration and joy — and sadness when they're gone. In 2017, we lost Bruce McCandless II (age 80), known for the first untethered flight in space, actor David Cassidy (age 67) of Partridge Family Fame, former MLB pitcher Roy Halladay (age 40) from a tragic plane crash and Tom Petty (age 66), one of rock music's greatest legends.

CHANCE THE RAPPER RAISES $1M FOR CHICAGO SCHOOLS

Chance the Rapper, a native Chicagoan and musician, donated $1 million to his hometown's public school system for arts and after-school programming. Chance wanted to create a "call to action" and raise awareness for better funding in the city's schools.

By passing tax reform legislation, Republicans achieved their largest victory since gaining control of Congress and the White House. The $1.5 trillion bill lowers corporate taxes and provides temporary tax relief for individual taxpayers. On December 22, it was signed into law.

HURRICANES DEVASTATE TEXAS, FLORIDA, AND PUERTO RICO

Hurricanes Harvey, Irma and Maria battered Texas, Florida and Puerto Rico this year, with September setting a record for most active month. The closely-spaced disasters caused an estimated $300 billion in damage, prompting the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) to deploy about 85% of its personnel to affected areas, providing support and funding for rebuilding efforts.

DEVASTATING CALIFORNIA WILDFIRES

Devastating wildfires raged through California in late 2017, destroying neighborhoods and livelihoods. Damage estimates topped $10 billion, over 100,000 people were evacuated, and the Thomas Fire in Ventura and Santa Barbara Counties burned an area larger than New York City, Washington D.C. and San Francisco combined.

MOURNS TRAGEDY IN LAS VEGAS

Sadness and shock swept the world as details of the October 1 tragedy at the Route 91 Harvest music festival in Las Vegas were revealed. In the midst of senseless violence that took 58 lives, the grace of everyday heroes shined. Marine veteran Taylor Winston drove dozens of victims to the hospital. Jonathan Smith rushed 30 people to safety. Carly Krygier became a human shield to protect her four-year-old daughter, Blayke, and Lindsay Lee Padgett turned her truck into a makeshift ambulance.

GREAT PYRAMID VOID STUMPS SCIENTISTS

The Great Pyramid of Giza is one of the oldest archaeological wonders, yet it still produces new mysteries. Outfitted with high-tech equipment, researchers uncovered a previously unknown empty 100-foot-long space inside the pyramid. One archaeologist called it "the discovery of the century," though its purpose is unknown. There are no easy answers, either, as protections over the pyramid prevent intrusive excavation.

VOLVO GOING ALL-IN ON ELECTRIC

Swedish automaker Volvo announced that its new car models from 2019 onward will be all-electric or hybrid, making it the first major automaker to move towards completely phasing out the traditional combustion engine.

BIOFORTIFIED BANANAS COULD SAVE LIVES

Australian scientists have developed a banana rich with pro-vitamin A that could save hundreds of thousands of children who die each year from a deficiency of the essential nutrient. Farmers in Uganda, a nation whose population is significantly affected by vitamin A deficiency, plan to begin growing the bananas in 2021.

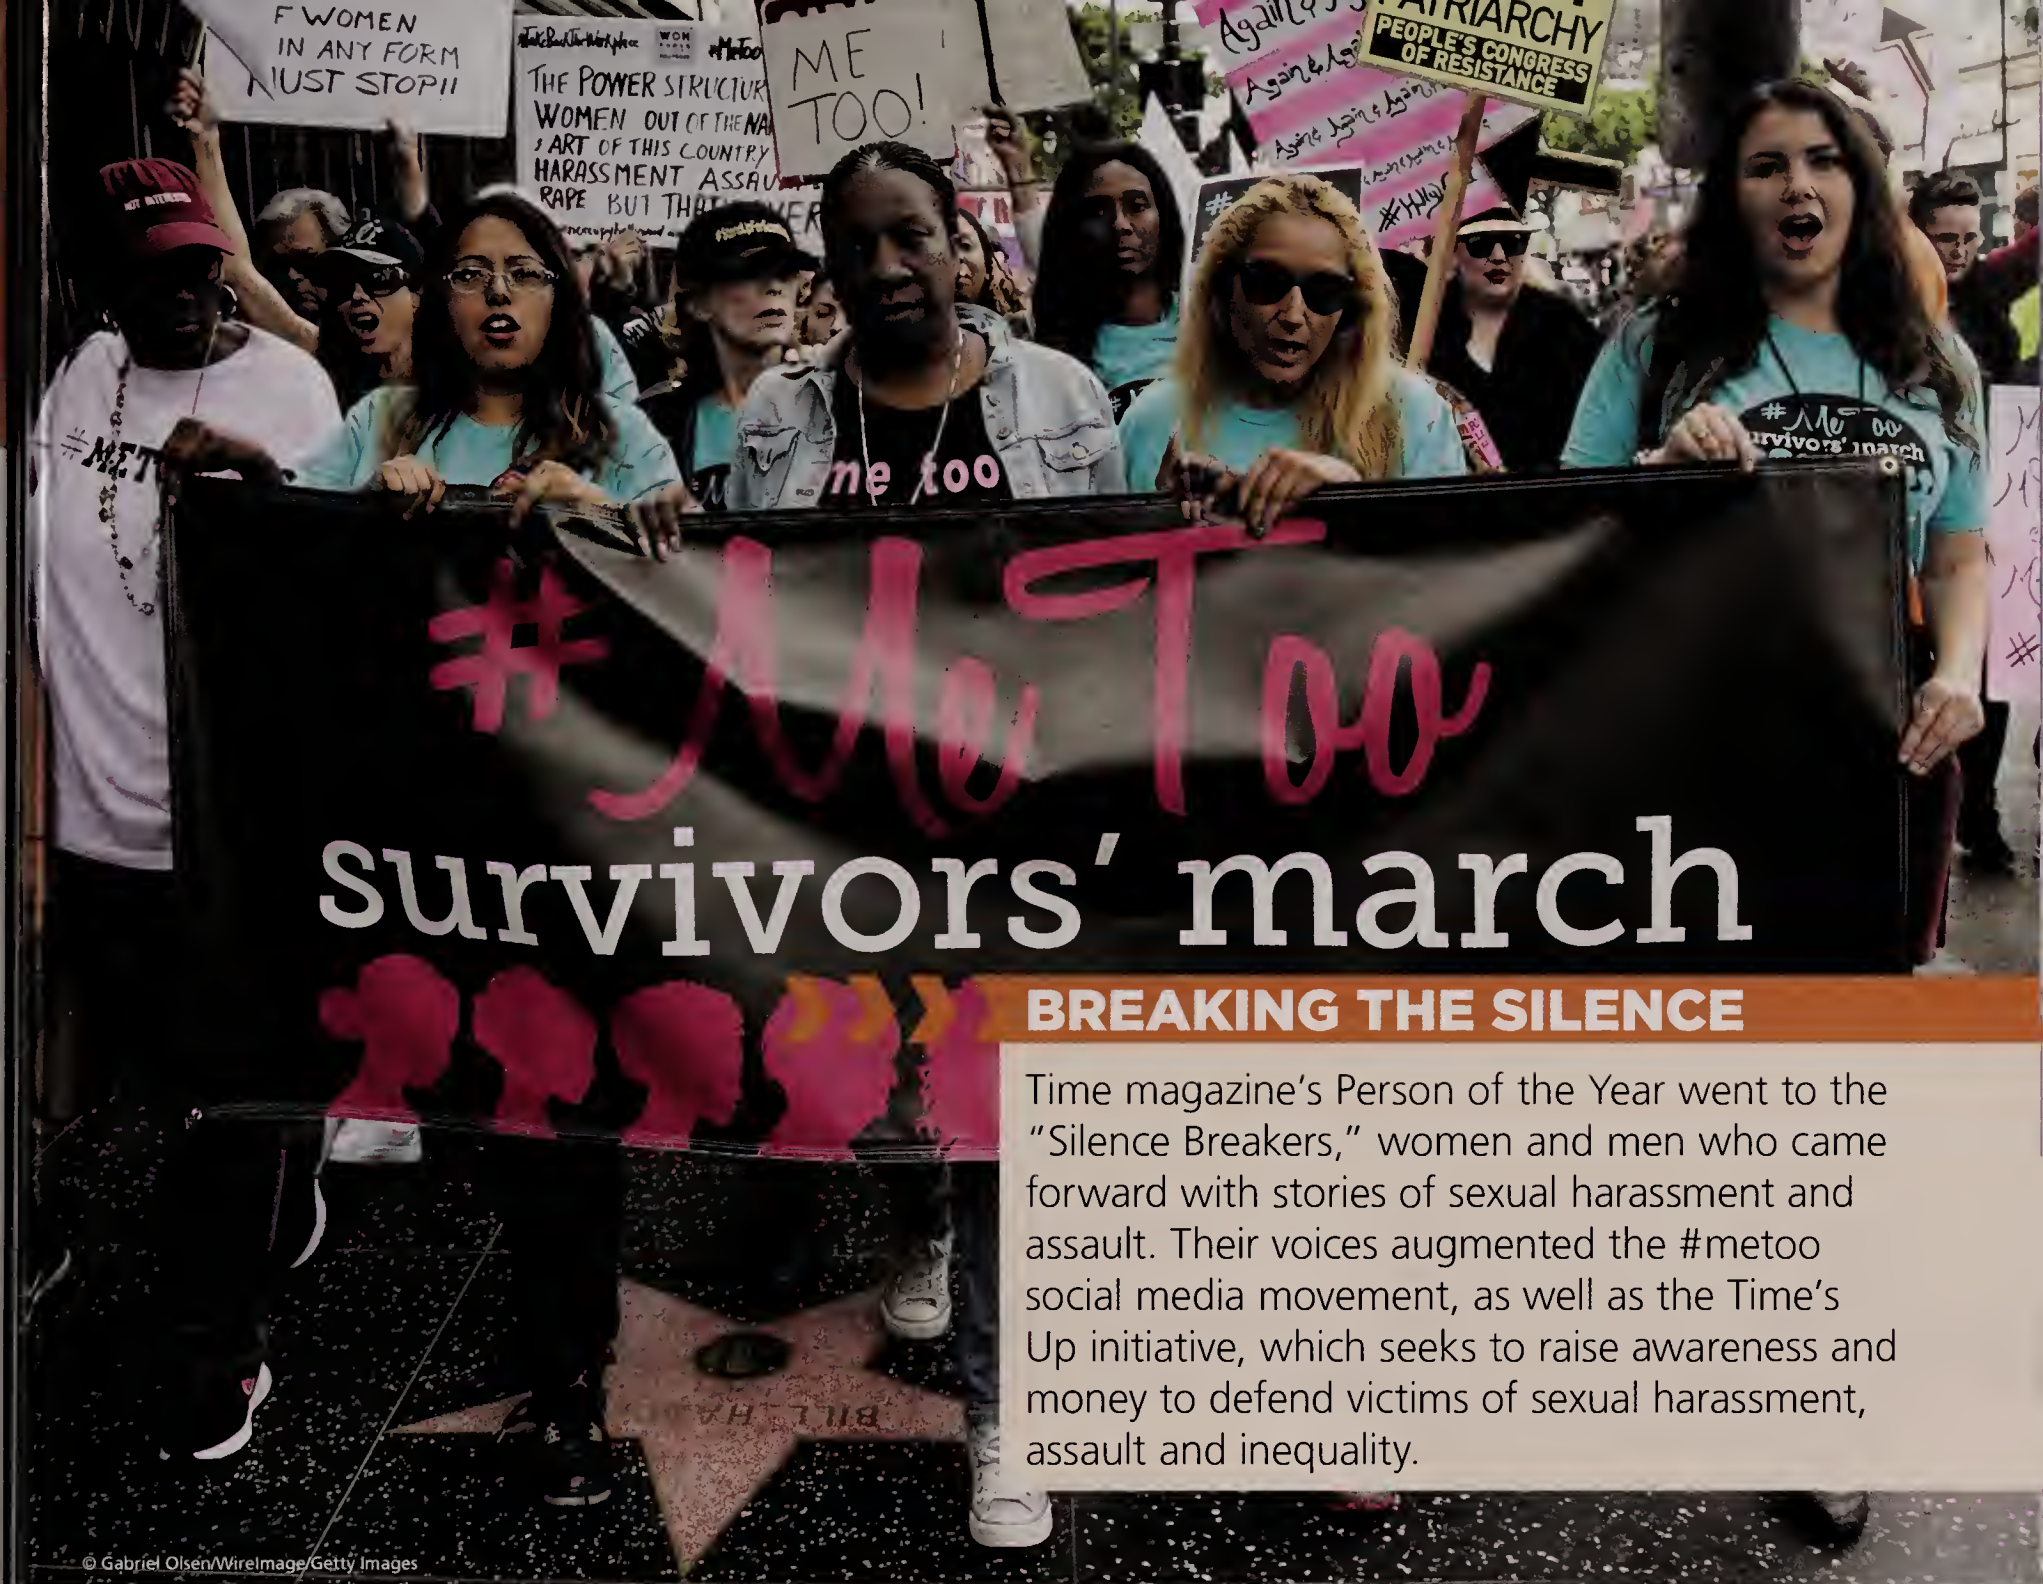

A ROYAL ENGAGEMENT

Queen Elizabeth II's grandson, Prince Harry, announced his engagement to actress Meghan Markle on November 27. While Markle's American origins make the pair unusual among British royalty, "at the end of the day, it's really simple," she says, "We're two people who are really happy and in love." Their wedding is set for spring 2018.

OPIOID EPIDEMIC ESCALATES

Every day, more than 90 Americans die after overdosing on opioids, a number that has quadrupled since 1999. Over-prescribing, misuse and addiction to opioids affects public health, social and economic welfare. In late October, the Department of Health and Human Services declared it a national public health emergency.

#MeToo survivors' march

BREAKING THE SILENCE

Time magazine's Person of the Year went to the "Silence Breakers," women and men who came forward with stories of sexual harassment and assault. Their voices augmented the #metoo social media movement, as well as the Time's Up initiative, which seeks to raise awareness and money to defend victims of sexual harassment, assault and inequality.

AI SAFETY SPARKS DEBATE

Artificial Intelligence (AI), influences everything from scanning badges, to surfing the internet, using apps and home sensor systems. Companies like Google, Facebook and Amazon use the collected data to get a sense of our behavior, which has technology leaders divided. Others aren't as worried, but caution that it's critical to understand how it influences privacy and personal freedom.

2017 brought an escalation in tensions between North Korea and the United States. Kim Jong Un launched multiple ballistic missile and nuclear tests, while also politicizing the 2018 Winter Olympic Games in neighboring South Korea. President Trump responded with heated speeches and Twitter posts directed at the North Korean leader.

NEW DISCOVERIES

PALEONTOLOGISTS PICK BONE WITH HUMAN HISTORY

Paleontologists now have evidence that humans were in North America earlier than previously thought. Much, much earlier. At a dig site in California, scientists dated the remains of mastodon bones at 130,000 years. Researchers were stunned to discover that the bones had been manipulated using man-made tools, evidence that humans were first in the region around 115,000 years earlier than anyone believed.

MARS OR BUST!

Four male and two female NASA researchers emerged in September after eight months of isolation in a Mars-like environment on a Hawaiian volcano. Crew members wore space suits, ate freeze-dried or canned food and had communications with the outside world delayed by 20-minutes — the time it takes for signals to get from Mars to Earth. The experiment was part of NASA's plans to send humans to Mars by 2033.

YOUR DOG IS TRYING TO TELL YOU SOMETHING

No, your dog isn't looking at you like that just because he wants food. A new study shows that our canine friends produce two times the facial expressions when we look at them, even without food. They specifically raise their eyebrows, making what we call "puppy dog eyes." It's the first evidence of non-primates communicating via facial gestures.

GRIZZLY BEARS' FUTURE GROWS BRIGHTER

In the 1800s, grizzly bears numbered around 50,000 across the continental U.S. By the 1950s, they were nearly extinct. Since then, federal protections have grown the population to around 2,000 grizzlies, enough that the bear has officially been removed from the endangered species list.

THAT'S ONE BIG CHUNK OF ICE

Weighing one trillion tons and comparable to the state of Delaware in size, a massive iceberg broke free from Antarctica's Larsen C ice shelf, reducing the shelf's size by 12%. Although icebergs break away from arctic shelves naturally, there is debate about the role of climate change in arctic shelf fragmentation.

TOTAL SOLAR ECLIPSE JOURNEYS ACROSS US

Starting in Oregon at 1:15 p.m. ET on August 21, a total solar eclipse started its transcontinental path across the United States, ending just shy of 3:00 p.m. ET in South Carolina. Eclipse seekers flocked to catch a glimpse of the rare event during its brief journey, many capturing and sharing the moment across social media platforms.

CONSTRUCTION CREW DIGS UP THE PREHISTORIC PAST

A construction crew uncovered something very unexpected and very old while working on a project for the city of Thornton, CO: A triceratops fossil dating back 66 million years. The discovery includes the remains of a triceratops skull, only 1 of 3 ever found in the region. Unsurprisingly, construction ceased immediately while archaeologists continued the excavation.

WORMS, AN UNLIKELY HERO

Over a trillion polyethylene bags are produced every year, and each takes up to 100 years to break down. Scientists may have found a unique solution to this environmental problem. It turns out that 100 wax worms can chow down 92 milligrams of a plastic in 12 hours. Researchers are studying how the worms digest the plastic and will attempt to replicate it.

GIRL SCOUTS ADD STEM BADGES

The Girl Scouts of the USA added 23 new badges related to STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) this year. The organization's 1.8 million members can earn badges by creating algorithms or learning about cybersecurity and programming robots.

TOP TECHNOLOGY

HIGH-TECH CARS GET BIG PRICE CUT

Automaker Elon Musk announced via Twitter that Tesla's new Model 3 passed its regulatory approvals for production two weeks ahead of time. The Model 3 is the latest in Tesla's line of electric self-driving cars and represents the company's first major attempt to make them more affordable. The $35,000 price tag and quality of performance generated more than 400,000 pre-orders.

NINTENDO SWITCHES IT UP

Nintendo's latest game console, the Switch, has been a hit with consumers and reviewers, selling over 10 million units worldwide. The company also increased its focus on the mobile experience, with iOS and Android games like Super Mario Run. It all paid off as Nintendo expects revenue of nearly $2 billion, for its best year since 2010.

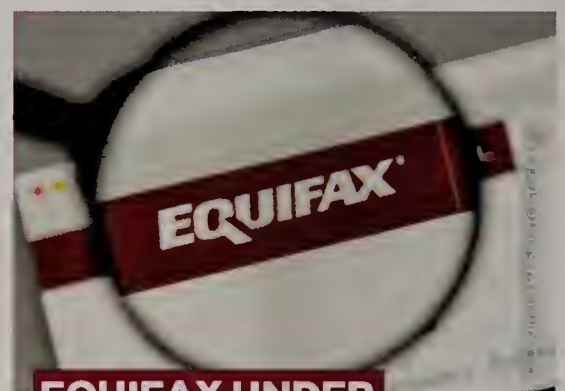

VIDEO STREAMING VIEWERSHIP IS MASSIVE

Nowadays, 6 in 10 young adults consume content mostly from video streaming. The appetite for gaming video streaming is also huge, with over 600 million viewers this year. That's more than three times the audience of HBO and ESPN combined.

IPHONE PRICES SET NEW BAR

The first iPhone was released in 2007 for $499. Since then, prices have climbed steadily. This year's latest iPhone X (pronounced 10), is the most expensive at $999. The price includes changes to many of the phone's signature features, such as a bigger/thinner/brighter screen, an edge-to-edge display and the new "Face ID" security technology.

EQUIFAX UNDER FIRE

Between May and July, hackers breached servers belonging to credit bureau Equifax. Sensitive data was stolen, including the social security and credit card numbers of 143 million U.S. consumers. Equifax came under intense criticism for security oversights leading to the breach, the delay in public disclosure and communication with affected customers.

WHOLE FOODS MARKET

AMAZON GOES BANANAS FOR WHOLE FOODS

Amazon's purchase of organic grocery chain Whole Foods for nearly $14 billion marks its first foray into brick-and-mortar stores. The online retail giant's stock rose 3% with the news and its plan to shake up the grocery industry has already started with lower prices, new benefits for members and speedy delivery.

FACEBOOK FIXES FACT FAKERY

Facebook is taking steps to stop the spread of fake news on its social media platform. The company is now banning sites they believe are sources of fake news, regulating content shared by suspected individuals and putting more people in charge of the site's news feed.

CRYPTO CRAZE

Cryptocurrency has turned into a financial and cultural phenomenon this year. Bitcoin, the mysterious digital currency, had a startling gain of 1,700% in 2017. Bitcoin and its like have prompted a debate among investors whether they are just a bubble or a permanent mainstay of our economy.

PENGUINS FLEW THE DISTANCE FOR STANLEY CUP

The Pittsburgh Penguins won the Stanley Cup for the second year in a row, with a late-game goal by Patric Hornqvist resulting in a 2-0 shut out. What's more, they pulled it off without their best defenseman, Kris Letang.

FEDERER OVERWHELMS AT WIMBLEDON

Roger Federer took home another title at Wimbledon this year, his first since 2012. He is also the first to win the title without dropping a set since 1976 and Federer's eight championship wins shatter the record he held with Pete Sampras. All despite being the oldest man to win at the All England Club in the Open era.

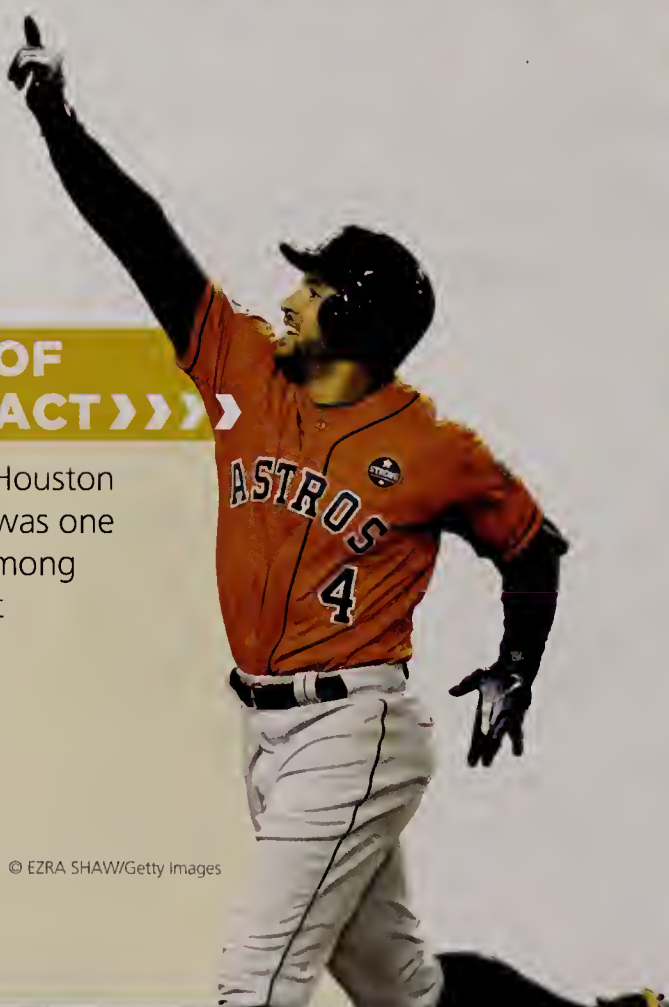

JAPAN CLOBBERS TEXAS IN LITTLE LEAGUE WORLD SERIES

Japan went head to head with Texas for the Little League World Series and won in a big way, closing out the final game 12-2. That's Japan's fourth Little League World Series title win in six years.

MLB WORLD SERIES OF ASTRONOMICAL IMPACT

The 2017 World Series between the Houston Astros and the Los Angeles Dodgers was one for the books. Game 5, considered among the best ever, was the second longest World Series game in history and the first to feature 6 game-tying home runs. Ultimately, the Astros won their first World Series title in the seventh game by a score of 5-1.

ANANYA VINAY SPELLS HER WAY TO VICTORY

"Marocain" is a dress fabric of ribbed crepe, made of silk or wool. It's also the word that won Ananya Vinay this year's Scripps National Spelling Bee. Her secret? "I just focused on my word and tried to spell it right," she said.

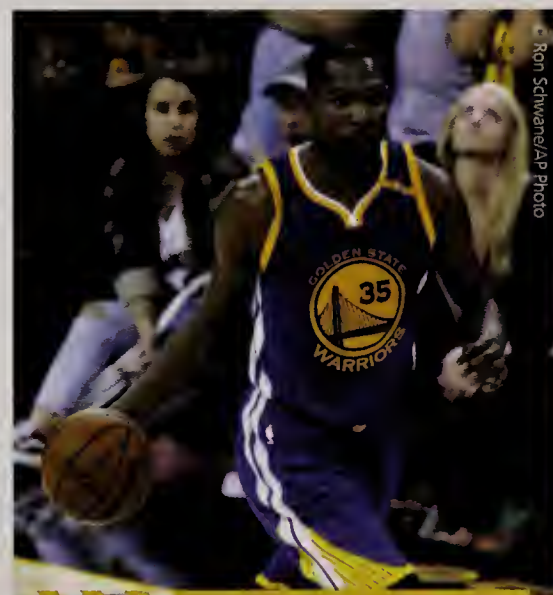

EAGLES SOAR PAST PATRIOTS

The underdog Philadelphia Eagles won their first world championship in an offensive classic over the New England Patriots 41-33 in Super Bowl 52. The two teams combined for 1,151 yards, shattering the record for most in any postseason game. Quarterback Nick Foles, who started the year as the Eagles backup, ended as the game's MVP by throwing for 373 yards and three touchdowns. In a trick play, he also became the first player in Super Bowl history to throw and catch a touchdown in the same game.

LYNX NAB WNBA CHAMPIONSHIP TITLE ONCE AGAIN

The Minnesota Lynx are the WNBA champs once again, redeeming themselves after last year's devastating loss to the Los Angeles Sparks. Falling behind 2-1 in the series, the Lynx came back to win Games 4 and 5, capturing the title. That gives the team 4 championships in 7 years, making them Minnesota's most successful professional franchise.

GOLDEN STATE WARRIORS STUN CAVS IN NBA FINALS

The Golden State Warriors became 2016-17 NBA champions after beating the Cleveland Cavaliers 129-120, finishing the series 4-1. Kevin Durant averaged 35.2 points for the Warriors and was named the 2017 Bill Russell NBA Finals MVP.

BRUNO MARS OUTSHINES AT AMERICAN MUSIC AWARDS

Bruno Mars didn't attend the 2017 American Music Awards, but that didn't stop him from becoming the night's biggest winner. Mars picked up 7 awards, including Artist of the Year, Video of the Year, Favorite Male Artist and Favorite Album in the Pop/Rock category. Selena Gomez provided one of the night's top moments as she took to the stage in her first performance since receiving a kidney transplant.

A NIGHT OF MUSIC AND UNITY AT THE 51ST CMAS

The CMA Awards were a night of celebration, remembrance and unity in the aftermath of recent gun violence. Host Carrie Underwood opened the evening by saying, "Tonight, we're going to do what families do: come together, pray together, cry together, and sing together, too." Against that emotional backdrop, Garth Brooks won Entertainer of the Year and Chris Stapleton took home Album of the Year.

NOBEL PHYSICS PRIZE PROVES EINSTEIN RIGHT

This year's Nobel Prize in physics went to Rainer Weiss, Kip Thorne and Barry Barish, for observing gravitational waves for the first time. These waves, caused by a collision of two black holes, were predicted by Albert Einstein's general theory of relativity over a century ago. It just took 1.3 billion years for the waves to arrive at the Laser Interferometer Gravitational-Wave Observatory in the U.S.

WONDER WOMAN WON BIG AT TEEN CHOICE

ON THE BOOKSHELF IN 2017

Every year, thousands of books are published for kids and young adults. Some rise to the top, like these notable titles on several "Best Of" lists:

- Here We Are: Notes for Living on Planet Earth, by Oliver Jeffers
- She Persisted: 13 American Women Who Changed the World, by Chelsea Clinton and Alexandra Boiger
- Turtles All the Way Down, by John Green
- We're All Wonders, by R.J. Palacio

THE U.S. REALLY <3'S EMOJIS

We are an emoji-crazed country, according to a current survey. Texters in the United States used emojis in 50-75% of messages, tying Trinidad for most use worldwide. Which one is our favorite? That prize goes to the Tears of Joy emoji!

CULINARY CRAZINESS

© MATT ROURKE/AP

Every year has its handful of weird food trends, but this year's might just take the cake. Drinks mixed with unicorn colors, eggs baked to look like a cloud and ice cream dyed deep black using charcoal are all popular on photo sharing apps.

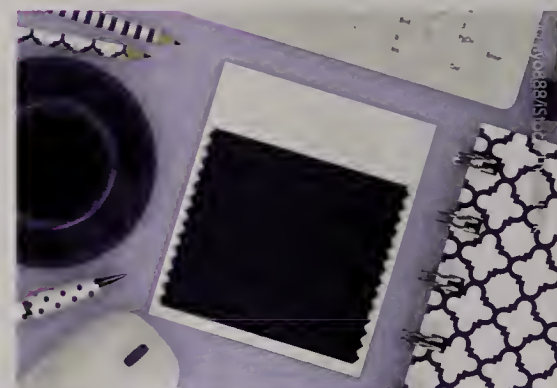

DIY SLIME TIME!

Nickelodeon has been dumping, dousing and dripping slime on celebrities, actors and game show contestants for years. Now the goopy action can be found in kids' homes, with do-it-yourself slime tutorials popping up throughout social media.

THE COLOR OF THE FUTURE IS HERE

Pantone® selected Ultra Violet as its Color of the Year, praising the visionary, creative and complex qualities that point us toward the future. As with previous winners, expect to see Ultra Violet pop up in cosmetics, fashion and home furnishings around the country.

SPINNING OUT OF CONTROL!

Fidget spinners started as an invention to help kids pay attention by giving them something to, well, fidget with. The toy, which doesn't need much space while keeping hands busy, quickly became a sensation despite being a distraction in school classrooms. By mid-summer, manufacturers had shipped over 200 million fidget spinners to fans across the nation.

2017 ACCORDING TO GOOGLE

Want to know what most people were thinking about this year? You don't need to be a mind reader, you just need Google. According to the search engine's year-end ranking of 2017's most popular trends, "Hurricane Irma" topped the list with "iPhone 8" and "iPhone X" coming in second and third place.

STILL THE BIGGEST IN SOCIAL APPS

Facebook, Snapchat and Instagram have dominated the social app scoreboard in every age group for years. While Facebook remains the leader, usage has been down 3.4% since 2016 as younger users favor newer and more visual communications platforms.
